

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Indiana's Telephone Privacy law has improved our time at home. This law has been effective in Indiana law has been, well "I used to receive 12 calls per week, now I only receive one"). My personal view about the importance of Indiana's law is that I just don't want anyone calling unless I deem it important. I understand that merchants must move their goods but now at the cost of a private America.
